Heather Duggan

Come learn about the latest breakthroughs and efforts towards stroke prevention and education.

Heather Duggan is the stroke program coordinator at Western CT Health Network, Danbury Hospital campus. Heather has held that position since 2005. Her background includes critical care nursing, multispecialty nursing, and emergency department nursing. Heather received her Bachelor's degree in nursing from Western Ct State University, and her Master's degree in nursing from Fairfield University in May 2012. She is certified as a Clinical Nurse Leader.

As the Stroke Center Coordinator, Heather works in a multidisciplinary role to promote quality in clinical practice for a specific patient population with the goal of providing superior quality, competitive value, and outstanding service to patients, families and the community. Heather coordinates the daily operations of the Stroke Program, assisting nursing staff in providing quality outcomes for stroke patients.
